

A Company's Success is in the Sum of its Parts

...how does your company add up?

Empowering People.
Accelerating Performance.

A company's success is in the sum of its parts.
How does your company add up?

EPI believes that it takes three key parts to build a strategy for success: Purpose, Process, and People.

Purpose: business plan, mission statement, core values, market needs

Process: organizational structure, technology, culture, communication

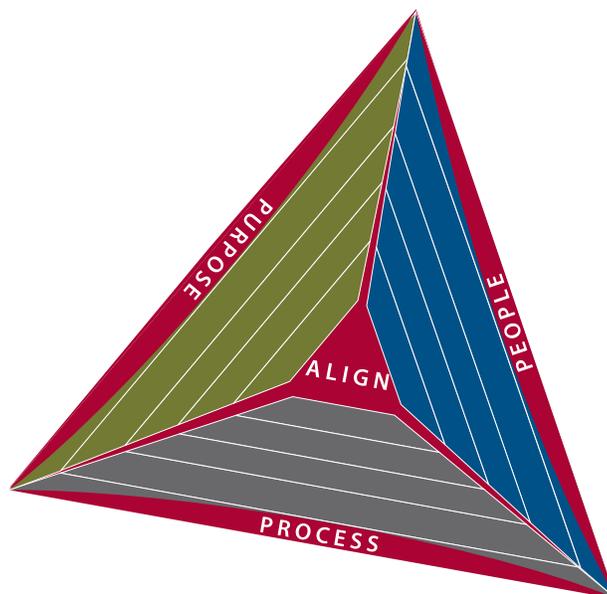

People: talent, integration, skills assessment, training, leadership development

Insight

EPI gives you insight on how your company is really doing when it comes to reaching its goals. We use in-depth analysis and comprehensive tools that peel away assumptions and give you a peek behind the curtain of your own organization. By using our quick-assessment tool, you can find out right away how your company adds up.

In-line

After we review your results, we ignite a plan designed to strengthen weak areas that hold your company back. By initiating best practices, enlisting performance plans, and/or incorporating new technology, we bring your parts in-line to build a strategy of success that benefits your purpose with integrated processes and dedicated people.

How Does Your Company Add Up?:

Online Survey:

Start each area with 60 points each.

Start with full checklist with positive statements (to be determined) describing a successful company

Deselect each area according to whether company meets standard

Points go down for each deselection

Point totals indicate growth areas

Hands-On Survey:

Check boxes for positive statements

Unchecked boxes total points to be deducted

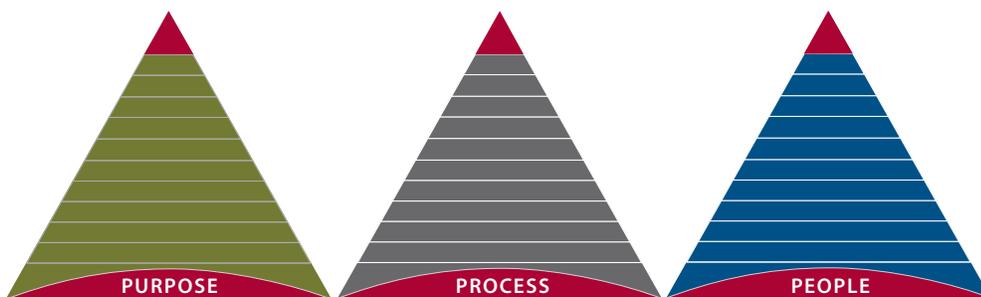

Point totals indicate growth areas

Example:

Purpose: 35pts

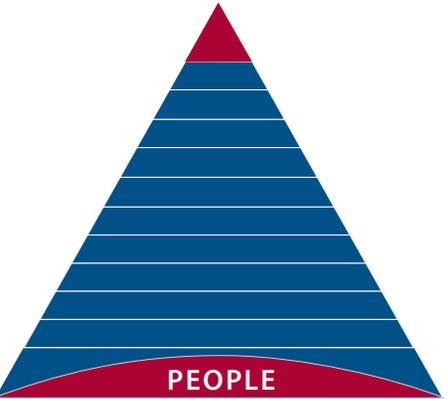

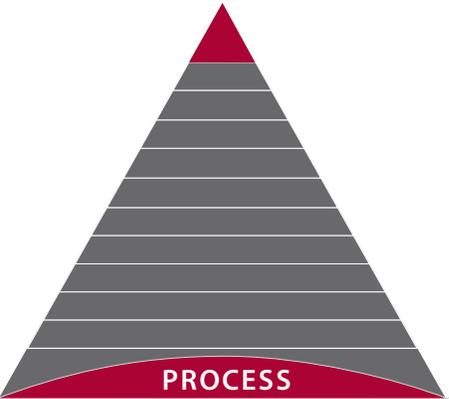

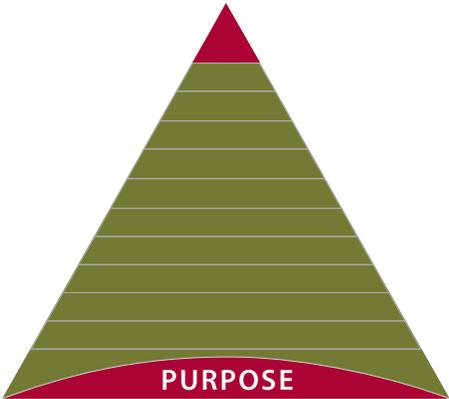

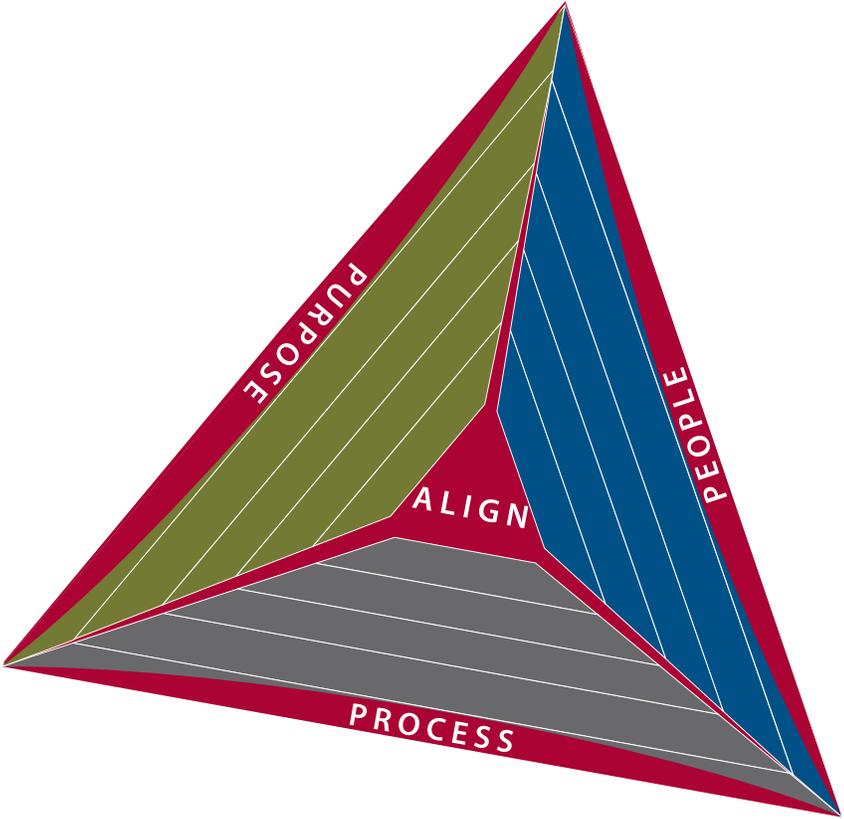

Process: 25

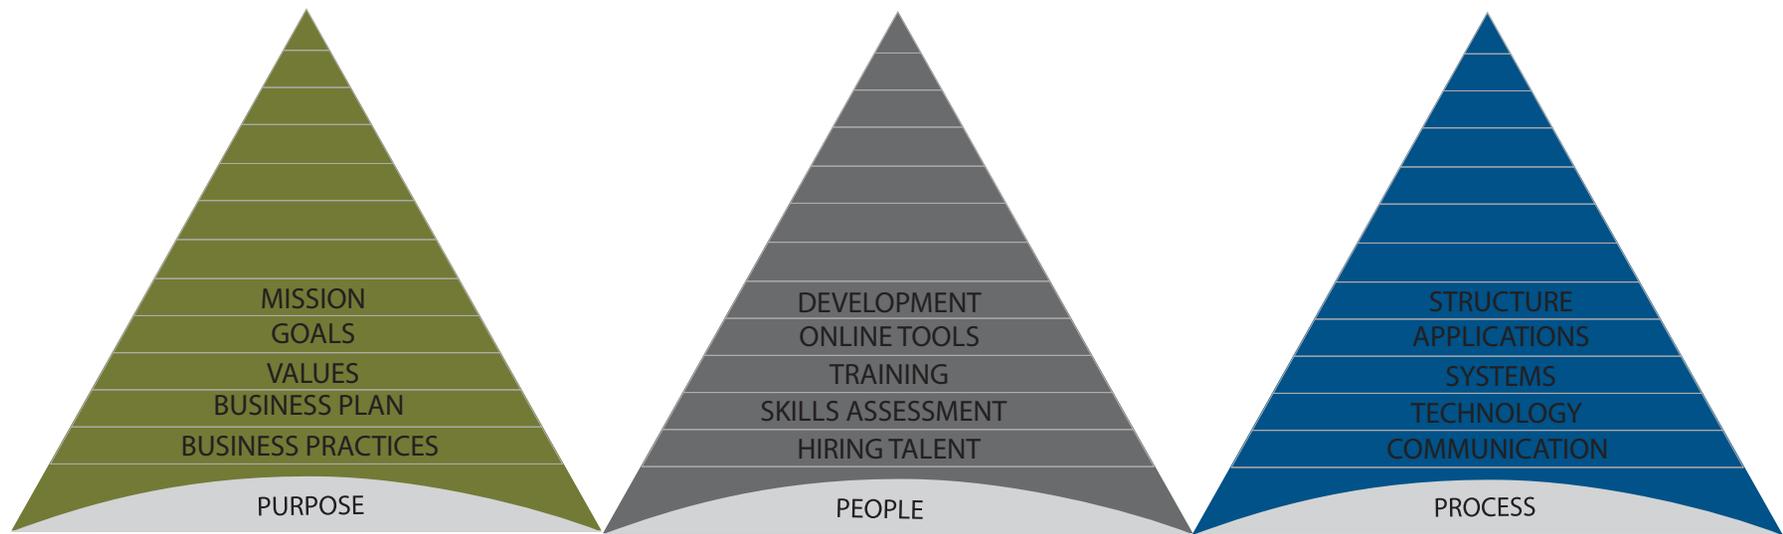

People: 50

Total does not need to add up to 180. In fact it won't. It is the goal of EPI to help the client build a success strategy for future results to reach 180 points.

EPI results will correlate with their rating, highlighting solutions to bring all areas back up to full checklist /180 degrees.

BUCKETS (BRICKS) THAT LEAD TO STRONG PARTS: PURPOSE, PEOPLE, PROCESS
